CHARDONNAY

Chardonnay, America's most popular white wine grape, produces wines of elegance and finesse. The classic Chardonnay flavor association is apple-like, but oak ageing often changes the tastes toward peach or pineapple, always with attractive richness on the palate. "Balanced ageing in stainless steel and small oak barrels creates a supple, full-flavored Chardonnay. Straw-gold color; subtle citrus and oak aromas and a long, crisp finish. Excellent as 'a wine by the glass' and with pasta, mild ripe cheeses and shellfish."
